- 1.(10) I bid farewell to the City and give in exchange for its stone temples the silent mountains. -
  - 2.(8)
For its rivers of humanity, the streams that flow through the green valleys -
  - 3.(5) For its lamp-posts, the hemlock, spruce and pine -
  - 4.(8) For its dusty lindens upon the boulevards, the shimmering zephyr-swept poplars . --
  - 5.(7) For its man-made monuments, the rough-hewn boulders on every hillside --
  - 6.(5) For its voices, the whispering echoes of the forest -
  - 7.990 For its avenues, the open road winding over the hills into the deep of the woodland -
- 2-

We give you instead, far from solitude, the roaring applause of the crowd on the field of contest -

  - 12.(8) For the far outposts we give you the thrill of battle where the pennants fly - - of fifty thousand throats --

  - 14.(6) We give you also the test of stamina, courage and endurance -
  - 15.(9) The age-old ambition to set the pace where skill and strength and courage tell the tale -
  - 16.(6) The sweep of oars, driven with the last ounce of human power -
  - 17.(7) The last drive through the stretch where the crown is waiting --
  - 18.(8) Far from the solitudes we give you the glory of contest in the land of flying feet -

19. (7) The struggle for Olympic fame in the gruelling dash for the tape - 20. (8) The last lift of the human body as it clears the bar before admiring multitudes -
